A note from Bev Lacey

At the meeting last week, I thought that maybe the congregation was not sure about the kitchen renovations going ahead. I would like to take a vote to determine if the congregation wants the kitchen renovations to go ahead. Last Sunday I only had the first quote ($38,000), however since then I have received another quote for fifteen thousand dollars (twenty thousand less than the last one). Neither of these quotes have included, Stove, Lino, Dishwasher, or Sinks. We will pass out paper and pencils, just before church starts. And after/during the announcements we will collect your response. All we need is a YES or NO and we will count the ballot to see your response. Thank you all for your participation. BEV

Our Hall has been hired next Thursday 3rd March for a private Presbytery function.

From this week's Uniting News

Creator God,
In our ever changing, fast paced world, we can feel overwhelmed, isolated, and burdened. There are constantly decisions to be made; deadlines to be met; goals to be achieved; updated policies or rules to be learned. At times we simply don't know which way to turn; which choice to make; or how to adapt to changed ways of living. At times we find ourselves out of our depth, and we don't know what to do. Help us, loving creator, to remember at these times particularly, that you are with us; that your ever active presence is alive within us and our life situations, whether we feel it is or not. Remind us at these times that we don't need to have all of the answers, or have the power and ability to solve every problem. Remind us whose we are, and to whom we need to turn our focus.
Help us to lift up our eyes and our hearts to see you, to see your presence within all sectors of our lives and the life of all of creation, and from there, help us to trust you and be still.
Amen.

Rev Jennifer Lynn Coral Coast.

Our prayers this week

For all those affected by events in the Ukraine
For Trish's son as he continues with chemotherapy
For Russ's family and friends
For our church unity as we move in to the future

Minutes from last week's Congregational Meeting are available if you want them.
