

WHY WAS I UNAWARE OF THE FACT THAT "DISGRUNTLED" IS, IN FACT, THE OPPOSITE OF "GRUNTLED"

gruntled

adjective humorous

- 1. pleased, satisfied, and contented.

WHY DOES NOBODY USE THIS WORD

I'm so gruntled to have found this

"I remember you."

(Jeremiah 2:2, NKJV)

Christ delights to think upon His Church and look upon her beauty. As the bird returns to her nest, and as the traveler hastens home, so the mind continually pursues the object of its choice. We can never look too often at the one we love – our Lord Jesus. From all eternity He has been “rejoicing in His whole world and delighting in mankind.” His thoughts looked forward to the time when His elect would be born into the world; He viewed them in the mirror of His foreknowledge. “All the days ordained for me were written in your book before one of them came to be.” When the world was created, he was there. Many times before His incarnation, He descended to this earth in the appearance of a man. On the plains of Mamre. By the brook of Jabbok. Beneath the walls of Jericho. In the fiery furnace of Babylon. Often the Son of Man visited His people. Because His soul delighted in them. They were never absent from His heart, for He had written their names upon His hands. As the breastplate containing the names of the tribes of Israel was the most brilliant ornament worn by the high priest, so the names of Christ’s elect were His most precious jewels, and glittered on His heart. We may often forget to meditate upon the perfections of our Lord, but He never ceases to remember us. Let’s admonish ourselves for past forgetfulness, and pray for grace to always keep Him in our fondest memories.
